The Uiver Flyer

News from the Uiver Memorial DC-2 Restoration Project.

Let us salute women in aviation

Join us on International Women's Day in March to celebrate women in aviation.

Squadron Leader Lisa Casey, commanding officer of RAAF Wagga, will be the keynote speaker at a unique event – a high tea in the English tradition at a most unlikely venue, the Uiver hangar at the Albury Airport.

High Tea

Also on the program will be Marianne Evans, helicopter pilot and proprietor of Albury company Helifly, and Bridget Hosking, an air traffic controller at Albury and a training specialist with Airservices Australia, who will also share experiences from their careers in aviation.

The moderator for the afternoon will be Gaye Pattison of ABC Goulburn-Murray.

As well as the guest speakers, the event will also celebrate six women pilots, including two Australians, who were connected with the 1934 London to Melbourne air race that brought the Uiver to its dramatic forced landing at the Albury racecourse. Their stories are told in a booklet to be available at the high tea.

Part of the Uiver hangar will be transformed for the high tea, with tables complete with white linen – just like a traditional English tearoom and with treats and beverages to match.

Hosted by the Uiver Memorial Community Trust, the high tea will run from 2pm to 4pm on Sunday, March 8, at the hangar in Bristol Court, off the Riverina Highway on the south-west corner of the Albury Airport. Ample free parking is available. Entry from 1:30pm.

Tickets at $50 pp (plus handling fee) are available at Eventbrite.
